I want to start off from by saying thank you all for the kind words. She was my grandmother. She is and always will be loved by me! I miss her a lot and it doesn't get easier, everyone says it will but it doesn't and that is okay in my opinion because that means I'll never go a day with out thinking about her. She will never be forgotten. I go visit her grave every holiday and on her birthday! If anyone could help us get her a head or foot stone it would be great let appreciated! She means the world to a lot of us, but to me she is so much more!! I love you mommom!

I am so sorry to hear of your loss. When I have experienced the loss of a loved one, I found great comfort in the words of Jesus at John 11:11, where he likens death to being asleep, and at John 5:28,29 - "All those in the memorial tombs will hear his voice and come out." What joy to be able to see our loved ones again !! For more comfort, I turn to the website: www.jw.org

I loved sitting and talking with her. I'd known since before my daughters were born and she was able to watch them grow up. She was a beautiful woman inside and out. Sending prayers to the family, her friends, and anyone else who was lucky enough to know such a wonderful woman. She was one of a kind and will forever be missed but never forgotten.

My heart goes out to your family as they begin missing you. Of little talks, of guidance, of hugs, and laughter. I will miss you, and regret never making that dinner we always talked about. I have known you since I was a small child in Texas, till I was a young lady in Denton, and a woman now fully grown with children and grandchildren of my own. You always kept in contact, offer advice, told me straight and helped me feel better when I felt I was failing. I love you and will miss you very much.

There are toooo many memories to tell just one. You were truly a amazing stubborn big hearted woman they knew how to cook. I enjoyed our hour conversations on the phone. You were more then just a great friend to me, more like a grandmother. I am so sad your gone but your not suffering. I hope your enjoying your missed time with Troy. While were still here on earth I promise to keepin contact with your family. I love you so much. Until I see you again rest easy Mrs. Sharon.
