I had the opportunity to be Vladimir's teacher when he first came to FES. He was an enjoyable little boy and I was very saddened to hear about his passing. He is now soaring with the angels looking over everyone. I continuously pray for the family for they still have many unanswered questions, but remember that God only chooses the best. I know right now that Vladimir is smiling down on us all and saying " I am fine for I am in the best place ever."Kimberly Brown

I was blessed to have been able to teach a wonderful little boy named Vladimir Jacotin at FES. Even at 6 years of age, Vladimir was handsome, smart, funny and enjoyed making others laugh. He loved to give and receive hugs especially to those that he thought might need cheering up. He learned English very fast and within 3 months, Vladimir could hold a conversation in English. Every day in class, he tried very seriously to convince me that he had a dragon living in his house. What a delightful, ornery boy! He moved back to Haiti for a time and I always asked Ms. LouLou if he had returned to the US. Vladimir had been back to Federalsburg for only a few months when God called him home. Lord Jesus, hold Vladimir in your arms and give him a huge hug from Mrs. Dayton. Please tell him that I will never forget him, that I love him, and I will see him one day in heaven. For his parents, Lord, I pray for your peace and comfort - the peace that the world cannot understand. We thank you for the blessing of Vladimir's life. We are all richer for having known him. In Jesus' Name - Amen. Much love and sincere sympathy - Mrs. Dayton

Please accept my heartfelt condolences for your loss. It is so difficult when you lose someone especially when they are very young. In times like this, the bible is a source of comfort to help you cope with your loss. In John 5:28,29 it talks about a time when loved ones such as Vladimir will be raised up back to life to conditions free from sickness and death. Yes Jehovah God has promised that he will bring this about. Please know that He cares for you (1st Peter 5:7) and He understands what you are going through. He will give you the strength beyond what is normal to cope with your loss. I do hope that these words from the bible will be a source of comfort to you.
