I never had the opportunity to meet you in person Mrs. Twilley, but your daughter also spoke so highly of you and with so much love and devotion. I know that you must have been a very kind hearted person, with a gentle spirit, and a beautiful heart, because you have raised your daughter (my best friend in the world) to be the same way. I know that as you entered Heaven you heard "well done, thy good and faithful servant". I look forward to the grandest of all reunions in Heaven one day when we will meet and know one another and be known. Until then enjoy your reward.and say hello to my Grammie. Grampa and Aunt Marie for me. Thanks.

Letting go is bittersweet. We rejoice that you are free of pain but will miss you, my sweet momma! It is not goodbye, but we'll see you later at the House. What a reunion that will be! Enjoy Heaven until we all get there. Love you, Gail.
